Abigail Hibler

Kokomo High School Class of 2019 graduate Abigail Hibler received acceptance letters from Indiana University, the Ball State University Honors College, and Saint Mary's College of Notre Dame before deciding to attend Purdue University to earn a degree in Speech Pathology and Audiology. Abigail, the daughter of Kurt and Colleen Hibler, hopes to use her degree to assist those in need of therapeutic speech adjustments. The International Baccalaureate Diploma candidate thanked Kokomo High School for "providing programs that simulate a college-level course load, as well as a wide variety of pathways and academic options, which allow students to choose their own scholastic journey." The Marching Wildkats Senior Drum Major traveled to Chile and Costa Rica through the IB program, and these experiences "enhanced my ability to recognize global perspectives." The Sevillanas Flamenco dance instructor, who is a bilingual tutor in English and Spanish, thanked her English teacher, the late Melanie Peoples, for "encouraging me and many other pupils to reach our full potential. Her influence has pushed me to challenge myself for the sake of discovering who I am personally and scholastically."
